Saturday, Dec. 8, 1900.

CLAIMANTS for the worldly goods of Millionaire Rice continue to arise. Yet the old man died without kith or kin near him.

TEXAS cattle are taking the blue ribbon right along. At the great stock show in Chicago, which is said to be the greatest exposition of the kind ever held, Texas cattle have carried off many prizes, aggregating thousands of dollars. These prizes were won by range cattle.

AN army of 50,000 or 60,000 cannot be too great for a country like the United States to support, and, whether we like it or not, the possession of distant islands render such an increase necessary. So long as military service is not compulsory, the mass of the people will hardly realize that the army has been so increased.

GEN. MERCIER would evidently like to see France give England a dressing down. The two are old-time enemies and many a hard-fought battle have they had with each other, with success sometimes on one side, sometimes on the other. Stranger things may happen than a war between the two, though in the interest of peace and progress, it is to be hoped there may arise no occasion for such a contest.

It seems incredible that human beings, without any provocation whatever, could commit such a heinous crime as that perpetrated in a saloon in Dallas last Monday night, when turpentine was poured over a drunken man, and the helpless wretch burned to death, the fiends calmly looking on and smoking their cigars, while he burned. Even the worst provocation does not excuse a mob, even though it be justly incensed, which will resort to such cruel torture to punish a brutal crime, and in this instance the victim was apparently innocent, except for the fault of being drunk in a saloon at midnight. Such deeds make one doubt if man was really made in the divine image of the Creator, for they who did this horrible thing are surely devil incarnate. The state of Texas is shamed at the owning that they lived within her borders.

It doesn't make any difference whether you believe in the modern theory and speak of the causes of diseases as referable to germs, microbes or bacilli, or whether you use the older and better understood terms of "humors" and "blood diseases"—Hood's Sarsaparilla cures them all.

It cures scrofula, salt rheum or eczema, catarrh, rheumatism, malaria and all other blood poisons; nervous troubles, debility and that tired feeling.

This is not merely modern theory; it is solid up-to-date fact.

"Salt rheum on my hands so severe I had to wear gloves most of the time, and could not shut my thumb and finger together, was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. A. O. SPALDING, North Scarsport, Me.

"My three months old boy was cured of a very bad case of scrofula by Hood's Sarsaparilla." Wm. H. GARNER, West Earl, Pa.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Promises to cure and keeps the promises. No substitute for Hood's acts like Hood's—be sure to get Hood's.
